Educator

Volunteer since 2009
Board member since 2022

Sue has 30 years of experience in education. She has worked with children from pre-school to sixth grade in roles ranging from elementary classroom teacher to school administration.

Sue holds certifications to teach PS-8th grade in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. She also recently achieved a certification in Mind, Brain, and Education from the Center for Transformative Teaching and Learning. Sue has worked hard over the last few years with Mindful Schools in California to become a Certified Mindfulness Instructor and shares that knowledge and practice with all of the students in her school as well as conducting workshops for educators and other adults.

Sue has a B.A. in Communications from Allegheny College and a Master of Education in Differentiated Instruction. She has spent a lifetime finding different opportunities to volunteer; being a candy-striper as a young teen, serving as vice president of service for the National Service Fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, in college, traveling to service projects in New Mexico and California, and serving on the board of the Hopewell Valley Chorus.

Sue has volunteered at Tabby's Place since 2009 and has done just about every volunteer job there is to do! Some of her favorites have been developing the Paws to Read program, cleaning up after the cats of Suite A, writing for sponsor kitties Mango, Adam, and most recently Steven, and fostering kittens.

Sue lives in Flemington, NJ with her cat Panda and an occasional visiting foster or two. In her spare time when she isn't teaching or volunteering, Sue enjoys reading, quilting, music, and theater.

President,
Omega Point Consulting

Volunteer since 2014
Board member since 2015

Sheila is a management consultant with over 35 years of experience. She is President of Omega Point Consulting, where she helps companies manage business change and helps IT (information technology) organizations implement effective management practices.

Sheila has deep expertise in facilitating the visioning, planning, organization design, process development and organizational change management for new products, technologies and services.

Before starting Omega Point Consulting in 1995, she spent ten years in Ernst & Young's management consulting practice and led research at E&Y's Center for Business Innovation. Prior to that, she spent time in various Information Technology roles.

Sheila received a B.S. in Computer Science from Bloomsburg University and completed some graduate work at DePaul University. Sheila is certified in organizational change management and in leadership development tools and served in leadership roles with several non-profit business groups.

Sheila lives with her husband, Glenn, and their 3 Tabby's Place alumni: Fontina, El Tigre and Dusty Rhodes, in Jamison, Pennsylvania. She enjoys reading, biking, cooking, and, of course, volunteering at Tabby's Place!

Office Manager,
Cedarbaum Orthodontics

Volunteer since 2017
Board member since 2022

Heidi recently changed career paths and is the office manager for Dr. Andrew Cedarbaum, an orthodontist, with primary responsibilities including reception, scheduling, and insurance claims submission. She brings to her position extensive experience from a 20+ year career serving in various roles with increasing responsibility. Most recently, she was an onsite clinical supplies contractor for Research & Development at a consumer products company. Her role included FDA-regulated documentation management, metrics tracking and reporting, and study product label coordination.

Heidi has an M.B.A from Kent State University in Kent, OH and a Bachelor of Arts degree in English with a French minor from Lamar University in Beaumont, TX. She has continued her education by taking EdX courses in project management and comic book development. Heidi is an aspiring author of children's books, who, under a pseudonym, has brought her love of writing to Felis Catus, the official blog of Tabby's Place. She also supports other local nonprofits and organizations through donations and strategic consignment shopping.

Heidi loves her current job and the opportunity it affords her to interact with and assist the patients and parents in her community. She is an avid fan of puzzles of all kinds, including crosswords, jigsaws, and several popular online challenges. In addition, she is a food enthusiast who loves adapting and developing her own recipes and testing them on close friends and family.

Heidi lives in Raritan Township with her husband Mitch, their four cats, and, sometimes, her mother Estelle. In addition to adoring her Tabby's Place shift and, especially, participating in the Befriending Fearful Felines program, Heidi relaxes by crocheting, gardening, and reading.

Retired Global Vice-Chair, Public Policy - EY

Board member since
2024

Beth Brooke serves on the Boards of The New York Times Company, eHealth, and SHEEX, as well as the United States Olympic and Paralympic Committee, Aspen Institute, Conference Board, APCO's International Advisory Council, the IU O'Neill School of Public and Environmental Affairs, and Purdue's Daniels School of Business. She also Co-chairs VERITYNow, a coalition advancing gender equity in vehicle safety standards, and is an advisor to Athletes Unlimited.

Formerly, she had a four-decade career at EY, was its Global Vice Chair-Public Policy and global sponsor of Diversity and Inclusion. She also served in the Clinton Administration.

Beth earned a B.S. degree in Industrial Management and Computer Science from Purdue University where she played intercollegiate basketball. She is in the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame and was awarded the NCAA's Theodore Roosevelt Award.

Beth's passion for cats began with Koko, an orange tabby she adopted when she was 2 and who lived 21 years with Beth. There have been many cats in Beth's household over the years. Today, she is graced with Soccer Ball who is now deaf, Maxwell who was a feral rescue out of the woods, and Punkie who was rescued off a busy highway.

When not hanging out with her three kitties, Beth can be found on the pickleball court.

Founder,
Allison Hunt Coaching

Volunteer since 2022
Board member since 2023

Allison is an established leader with over 35 years of experience in both the Medical and Pharmaceutical industries. She started her career as an Oncology Nurse in Austin, Texas where she is from, and the remainder of her professional journey was in New Jersey with the Cancer Institute of New Jersey and Bristol Myers Squibb (BMS).

Professionally, Allison is known for developing and leading high performing teams and innovative business initiatives in complex, changing environments. She is also an experienced people leader often sought out for career planning and skill development coaching. Her areas of expertise are in leadership development, cross functional matrix leadership, strategic planning, change management, and product launch planning and execution.

Personally, Allison is known for being a cat lover. She started supporting Tabby's Place in 2006 via donations. In May 2022, she retired from BMS and in June finally was able to start volunteering her time at Tabby's Place. She currently has a variety of roles that includes thorough cleaning the Suite D solarium, am room cleaning, serving as a post-adoption counselor and a volunteer member of the Development Committee. In her spare time, she enjoys taking pictures and videos of the Tabby's Place kitties and posting them on the volunteer Facebook site and Slack for others to enjoy.

Allison is married to Bill Hunt who also volunteers at Tabby's Place as a handyman. Together they have two grown children (Maley and Thom) that they enjoy seeing often, who live in Connecticut and Pennsylvania. Allison currently has 2 indoor 14-year-old cats (Romeo and Juliette) and one outside feral kitty named Cali that she cares for.

Allison loves nature and is an active advocate for all things living. She is an avid flower gardener, feeds the birds daily, raises Monarch butterflies in the summer and enjoys watching the sun set with Bill outdoors each evening when possible.

Recently, Allison completed a much needed and enjoyed sabbatical (aka career break) and in April, initiated a consultant-based business called Allison Hunt Coaching with the purpose of helping people design their careers and live their best lives.
